

Section 602.6111, subsection 3, Code 2007 is amended by striking the subsection and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

3. The supreme court may prescribe rules requiring confidentiality of certain records and parts of records maintained by the courts. When adopting these rules, the court shall strive to provide public access to court records and information to the fullest extent possible, while minimizing the risk of potential harm to the personal security and privacy interest of individual's and to proprietary business information. The rules prescribed pursuant to this subsection may specify the manner and format in which such confidential information is to be provided to a court, authorize the degree and nature of disclosure of such information to specified classes of persons, and indicate the manner and format in which such confidential information is stored and disclosed to appropriate persons. Rules issued by the supreme court pursuant to this subsection shall prevail over any other state laws and administrative rules.